Lisa Butcher joins Long Tall Sally

An exciting season lies ahead at Long Tall Sally, as not only do they launch their new collection, new look website (October 08) and branding, but also announce their resident style expert, the gorgeous 6ft tall Lisa Butcher. As well as styling the nation on TV, Lisa is a writer, model and mum to two tall daughters.

Who better to select her favourite Long Tally Sally essentials than Lisa, as she gives her personal edit of must-have knits, structured tailoring, luxurious coats and great weekend wear? Having for years experienced the frustration of not being able to find clothes which look great and actually fit her taller frame, combined with her love of fashion, Lisa is the perfect choice to work with Long Tall Sally to develop and present a fashionable, flattering range of clothing.

Get ready for Lisa's own capsule collection, launching SS09!
